

She Wasn't Lying
By Amos the Transparent

D D/C# D/B A
I can't wait 'cause when we meet it'll be one hell of a wonderful day
G A7 D C#m Cadd9 G
I'm sorry if I won't be half what you hoped for
A7 D C#m Bm A7
As I've grown tired of watching my back

One month a year to the day she wasn't lying when she said I'd be drowning them away
My only hope is that he'd love her the same
There's nothing so beautiful as when she says your name
When she says it...

A simple loneliness revealed by the sun
It wasn't something you said, It was something we shouldn't have done
And once again we hear that sweet morning song
And I'm its counterpart that's done you so wrong
At least I did something...

I'm sorry if I won't be half what you hoped for
